The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) has released a preliminary draft of the Cybersecurity Framework Profile for Artificial Intelligence (Cyber AI Profile). The framework will help organizations adopt and secure AI technologies while addressing emerging cybersecurity risks. Aligned with NIST's Cybersecurity Framework (CSF 2.0) and the AI Risk Management Framework, it provides guidance on securing AI systems, using AI for cyber defense, and countering AI-enabled threats. The Cyber AI Profile also establishes a common risk language and provides practical guidance on governance, controls, and monitoring as AI becomes central to enterprise operations. Read More >>

Why It Matters:

In today's rapidly evolving threat landscape, cybersecurity maturity assessments are essential for providing organizations with actionable insights into their security posture beyond what standard compliance checks offer. By measuring capabilities against risk- and sector-specific benchmarks, maturity assessments identify vulnerabilities that could materially impact business operations and enable more informed investment decisions and long-term cost efficiencies.

How FTI Consulting Can Help:

FTI Consulting delivers comprehensive cybersecurity maturity assessments that provide clear insights into strengths, gaps, and risks. Our multidisciplinary team provides data-driven recommendations and prioritized remediation roadmaps that enable organizations to make targeted investments, optimize cybersecurity spending, and strengthen their overall security posture.

Success Story:

An AI company engaged FTI Consulting to assess its cybersecurity maturity after experiencing rapid growth. Our experts conducted on-site stakeholder interviews, reviewed cybersecurity and governance documents, and conducted a gap assessment aligned with industry frameworks. FTI Consulting provided a prioritized roadmap of control-based recommendations to help the company implement frameworks and standardized processes, significantly enhancing its cybersecurity posture.
